

PERSONAL DATA

Name	Ad Foolen
Academic title / rank	PhD in Linguistics, Retired
Department	Language and Communication
Institution	Radboud University, Netherlands / Radboud Universiteit
E-mail	ad.foolen@ru.nl
Scopus	https://www.scopus.com/authid/detail.uri?authorId=24310783000
Web of Science	https://www.webofscience.com/wos/author/record/21910980
ResearchGate	https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Ad-Foolen
Google Scholar	https://scholar.google.com/citations?hl=en&user=jtjORiUAAAAJ
Fields of interest	Language and emotion, discourse markers, history of linguistics.
Two most important and three recent publications (selected)
Foolen, A. (2022). Language and emotion in the history of linguistics. In Language and Emotion. An International Handbook . Vol. 1 [HSK 46:1]. Schiewer, G.L., Altarriba, J. & Ng, B.C. (eds.). Berlin – Boston: De Gruyter Mouton, p. 31-53.
Van der Wouden, T. & Foolen, A. (2021). Dutch pragmatic markers in the left periphery. In Pragmatic markers and peripheries . van Olmen, D. & Šinkūnienė, J. (eds.). Amsterdam: Benjamins, p. 49-74.
Dukes, D., Foolen, A. et al. (2021). The rise of affectivism. In Nature Human Behavior 5, p. 816-820.
Foolen, A. (2019). Quo vadis pragmatics? From adaptation to participatory sense-making. In Journal of Pragmatics , 145, p. 39-46.
Evidence for evidentiality [HCP 61]. (2018). Foolen, A., de Hoop, H., & Mulder, G. (eds.). Amsterdam: Benjamins.	